A little story...

... dating back to 1967

Our Fiat 500 has been born... during the same year, the old house has been built. There is some secret connection.

2014

First we've rented the garage in the old house for Fiat Cinquecento, but when we've finished with restauration of VW T2, the garage was too small, so we came up with an idea to buy the house and to grow it a little bit.

The project

The project of the reconstruction has started, with the aim to get a bigger garage for the old-timers with a view from the living room. Also, we wanted a swimming pool on the rooftop.

All of this required special statics, house extension, house upgrade, insulation improvements and facade reconstruction and adaptation.

The reconstruction

The beginning of reconstruction: excavation, systematic digging under the existing foundation - creating a new foundation underneath the existing one.

The reconstruction

The project has been finished and it included: Basement and backyard excavation, which resulted in a ground floor with the lower pool and spacious yard. The aggravating steps were systematic digging under the existing foundations, and creating a separate construction for the rooftop pool in the existing walls, from the foundation to the newly constructed top floor.
